Mishicot Business Firms Extend Congratulations To Manitowoc County On Its 100th Anniversary

History of Mishicot

Mishicot, a village of nearly 500 persons, is located on the East Twin river 12 miles northwest of Manitowoc. It has numerous mercantile establishments, Catholic, Methodist and Lutheran churches, a third class postoffice and a high school.

The settlement grew up along the river in the town of Mishicot and owes its origin to the erection of a sawmill by Alfred Smith and Ira Clark in 1855. The river afforded excellent power at that time. In 1859 the village contained about 30 houses, a sawmill, a shingle mill and a planing mill.

Among the early day merchants were Charles Tisch, D. H. Van Vankenburgh and Lafagette Smith.

Gradually Mishicot grew and in late years a check reveals three general stores, two hardware stores, two hotels, a furniture store, blacksmith shop and, at one time, a brewery.

A town hall, and opera house were among the buildings added in recent years.

Now on a bus route between Manitowoc, Two Rivers and Kiel, Mishicot village in the early days was often considered on a proposed interurban rail extension unutil the inroads of motor bus competition did away with dreams of rail extensions through the northeastern part of the county.

Mishicot is located on Highway 163, eight miles north of Two Rivers.

Among the early pioneers of Mishicot was Julius Lindstedt and Judge Isaac Craite, both deceased. Both later moved to Manitowoc. In the early days of Judge Craite's career the village of Mishicot attained county-wide prominence through the so-called "Mishicot code of justice." Judge Craite, the first municipal judge of this county, was a justice of the peace at Mishicot and in those early days all cases originated in justice courts. The rulings of Judge Craite brought the village of Mishicot to the forefront in those early years.

In recent years Mishicot had advanced greatly along educational lines and now has a four-year course in the high school.

Located in the center of a rich agricultural territory the village of Mishicot has prospered in the last score of years and retail establishments have enjoyed an increasing trade from the farmers living within easy driving distance of the village.

Centennial Greetings From Progressive Business Firms In Villages of Mishicot and Tisch Mills

History of Tisch Mills

At northern town limits of Mishicot is located the hamlet of Tisch Mills—named after Charles Tisch who erected saw mill and grist mills there in early sixties—place now contains flour mill, hotel, stores and varied other activities. After sawmill was in operation for years Mishicot river overflowed banks which resulted in destroying of Tisch saw mill in 1895—Mill owner before flood had completed most of logging operations so mill was never rebuilt—The pioneer continued in flour and feed business and later sold out to Charles Novotny who also managed mill for years.

One of the revenues of early settlers was hemlock bark hauled in wagons and sleds to Pfister tannery at Two Creeks. Fame also came to Tisch Mills from brewery erected for Anton and Bernard Langenkamp which later was sold to Kumbalek and Walecka. About 1900 village experienced a fire which destroyed the brewery—it was never rebuilt.

County Line house was one of first structures erected at Tisch Mills—owned by Joseph Stangel—later acquired by Joseph Lodl who in 1920 sold site to Tisch Mills State bank. In pioneer days only postoffice was called "Nero postoffice" located at Two Creeks. The mail for villagers was conveyed weekly. When Joseph Stangel built the County Line house he provided the first postoffice. In 1884 the postoffice transferred to Stangel and Marshalek store—F. W. Stangel named postmaster and held office for 40 years until his death in 1924—when Anton Olsen succeeded him.

On present site of Forst hotel was saloon owned and operated by Charles Novotny. It was later taken over by J. J. Elfner who managed business prior to building of modern hotel and dance hall by late W. R. Forst, who died in 1826. William R. Wilsmann operates the Commercial hotel.

Organizing and equipping of Tisch Mills fire department took place in 1906—hydrants were put in throughout the village—district now includes rural community within radius of mile of village. First telephone in Tisch Mills set up in 1887 and in 1910 County Line Telephone company organized by villagers—now has 200 subscribers.

Banking in the village launched in 1971 when Tisch Mills State bank organized—in 1921 bank building erected.

Tisch Mills had one of early day brass bands—Schauer's band, organized in 1856—had 10 members—first Bohemian band in this section—band continued down through the years—band now known as Tisch Mills brass band.

As a booster for Tisch Mills and Manitowoc County, I am proud to extend my congratulations to the County Centennial.
